MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

Hello there!

If you are thinking of an MBA, this much is for sure: it is hard to imagine a more exciting time for it than now. Or more challenging. The business of business today is anything but business as usual. AI transforms the rules of work and thought, and the shifting sands of global politics play havoc with supply chains and market access. The skills for tomorrow look increasingly different from those for yesterday. The search for solutions demands an ever-expanding horizon.

This is exactly what makes a B-School today a fabulous place to be in: to understand tested solutions, appreciate a never-before business context, and to bet sensibly on the future. At SME our best-in-class faculty is fully conscious of this. Our professors engage with young learners, serving up timeless wisdom garnished with the cutting-edge techno-business context, preparing students for the world of tomorrow. With teaching methods far from conventional they continue to challenge and surprise as they inform.

Preparing for the business world needs a ring-side view. Industry visitors – from the NCR or afar – connect our classroom to the corporate world. Our link with one of India's largest IT companies creates an opportunity to witness application of concepts and the tackling of real-life challenges.

Much learning in a business program happens outside the classroom. Students thrash out problems together and hone their arguments on co-learners: peers who will likely stay in touch throughout their professional careers.

An MBA at SME grooms them for the recruitment round as much as it readies one for a rewarding career beyond it. For the entrepreneurially inclined, the doors of our Atal Incubation Center are open 24X7. What makes SME rise above the competition, is its being part of a vibrant young research university – an elite Institution of Eminence (IoEs). At SNIoE, students can deep dive into latest or turn to classics for guidance. Our sister schools provide resources spanning from archaeology to AI.

Finally, I take special pride in welcoming you to our verdant 280-acre campus and challenge you not to fall in love with its acres of greenery, flocks of local and migratory birds and its shaded walks. A quiet oasis amidst the bustling NCR, perfect for uninterrupted focus, fun time with friends and a refreshing connection with nature.

Take a careful look at us: through the pages of this brochure, at our website, or visiting the campus. Drop a line or, better still, drop in: who knows what we can create together?

Rajesh Chakrabarti

Dean, School of Management and Entrepreneurship
